Traditional Afternoon Tea

*"There are few hours in life more agreeable than the hour dedicated to the ceremony known as afternoon tea."
- Henry James*

Afternoon tea, is surprisingly, a relatively new tradition.

It was said to be introduced in England by Anna, the seventh Duchess of Bedford, in the year 1840.

The evening meal in her household was served fashionably late at eight o'clock, thus leaving a long period of time between lunch and dinner.

The Duchess would become hungry around four o'clock in the afternoon and request that a tray of tea, bread and butter, and cake be brought to her room. This habit of hers soon became a fashionable social event where she began inviting friends to join and came to be known as Afternoon Tea.
